Another 49er Event Saturday, July 26

Whiskerenos and Smoothies in Lakeside and vicinity meet again on the field of battle next week. This time they will cross bats in a game of softball, with a rematch tug of war thrown in for good measure.

Though it took the Smoothies only about a minute to win the first tug of war contest, the Whiskerenos insist they have the best team.

"We'll pull 'em again!" said Walt Hartung, Smoothie team captain, when he heard there was some dissatisfaction over the outcome.

"This time we'll drag them right out of the ball park," he said Wednesday.

The Smoothies were not so confident of winning the ball game.

The ball game and the tug of war will be two of the main attractions Saturday, July 26, in another warm-up event for the main Days of 49 Celebration August 1, 2 and 3.

FIRST EVENT SUCCESSFUL

Nearly $300 was realized from last Saturday's night's entertainment at the Rodeo Grounds, according to E. H. Carender, Committee treasurer.

Feud No. Two

Another dunking feud has sprung up in Lakeside to take its place alongside the Hugo Clapp - Walter Hartung controversy.

Johnny Dignan, a Smoothie, and Ben Johnson, Whiskereno, would like to have a little dunking party of their own, each being certain he can toss the other in the horse trough without too much trouble.

Johnny's backers out on Summit Creek are sure their man is a winner, while Ben's Los Coches Creek neighbors are said to be solidly behind their man.

As one of them put it: "There's only one way to find out who's the best man, and that is to meet at the horse trough, and see.

Meanwhile the argument between Whiskereno Clapp and Smoothie Hartung as to who can put who in the horse trough and how quick, remains unsettled.

After witnessing the tussle of the trough last Saturday evening (See Celebration story) Hugo was asked if he had changed his opinion on the length of time (three minutes) it would take him to put Walt in the trough.

"Certainly not!" said Hugo. "Ken got tied up, but it doesn't mean a thing to me!"

Hugo continued to train by tossing around 12-in. x 20-ft. lumber yard timbers like they were kindling.

"Why train?" scoffed Walt. I'm always in condition."

Approximately 600 people attended, spent their Gold Nuggets freely and had a good time doing it.

Though there were numerous attractions, such as good dance music, a Kangaroo court, an impromptu swimming match and an auction sale, the highlight was a tug of war between the Smoothies and the Whiskerenos.

SMOOTH POWER

The smooth shaven lads outpowered the boys of '49, but it was a grim struggle for a short time. In the first seconds following Referee Linley's "One, Two, Three, Go!" the Whiskerenos had a slight advantage, but after taking a couple of steps forward the Smoothies braced themselves and from then on they were the ones that did the backing up.

"Officers of the law" roamed the grounds during the evening, looking for violators of the "Lakeside Whisker Ordinance." They were as follows:

Frank Stewart, high sheriff.
Merton Thomas, deputy sheriff.
Leland Barker, U. S. Marshal
Ken Oppenheimer, deputy.
Clarence E. Pratt, deputy
Ralph Eaton, deputy.
Victor Gregory, deputy.

$1000 In Bank

Almost a thousand dollars has been banked thus far in the current drive to raise funds for the Memorial Building, according to Mr. Carender.

Goal is to raise $5,000 toward immediate start on the building. The plan is to go ahead as far as money will permit, putting in the foundation and walls.

$1,200 was cleared last summer in the initial drive to raise funds.

The structure is expected to cost $30,000 when completed.

Site is adiacent to the county park at Lindo Lake.

On the night of the main celebration, according to W. K. Wade, Kangaroo Court judge, who has been assisting the committee in securing "law enforcement" officers there will be fifty of the latter including U. S. marshals, high sheriffs, Vigilantes, plain clothes men, constables and police women.

The women on the force will see to it that all ladies' conform by wearing a 49er Sunbonnet. Lacking one, the ladies will be required to buy a "Smoothie" badge at the Sun Bonnet price—$1.49.

The Kangaroo Court will be in session continuously to pass on all offenses.

Many 49ers will be dressed in authentic characterizations of earlier days.

At least three men will portray Abraham Lincoln. Both Leland Barker and Victor Gregory bear strong resemblance to Honest Abe.

It is said that six women already have volunteered to portray the characterizations of old time characters, such as Calamity Jane, Diamond Lil and Poker Nell.

The hot dog stand at last Saturday night's preview was in charge of Mrs. Wallace Phillips and her two daughters, Mrs. Walter Kotter and Mrs. Wilson White.

The soda pop stand was in charge of Wilson White, Bert Salas, Gene Larson and Phillip Jenkins.

Gold nuggets were sold by E. H. Carender.

During the evening three smooth-shaven men were brought before Judge Wade. They pleaded guilty and threw themselves on the mercy of the court.

Judge Wade collected a $10 fine from Leonard March and $1 fine from Rev. Donald Weston of Modesto, Calif.

MONEY FOR GARTERS

Rupert Linley, announcer for the evening over the loud speaker system, conducted an auction sale during which a pair of garters worn by Miss Louise Bridges were sold to the highest bidders.

Stanley Conant paid $20 for one garter and Fred Prindle, Sr., $25 for the other. For her part, Miss Bridges received 4500 votes for Queen.

I. C. Cooper was the third Smoothie offender arrested by the special deputies.

"Toss him in the tank," said Judge Wade.

Whiskereno Ken Oppenheimer stepped up to comply with the order from the court, but Mr. Cooper had other ideas.

Though the smaller man, he put up a game battle and for a minute it looked like the deputy himself would be the one to go in the tank.

It ended by both going in.

The dance and the concessions were well patronized.

Five of the contestants for Queen were introduced in the order in which they stood as of that date: Francine Shaff, Betty Jane Rowe, Marian Grayson, Shirley Lucas and Louise Bridges.

WINTER GARDENS

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Mueller and little sons Jimmy and Johnny left Saturday morning, July 12, for an extended trip through the Middle West. Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Maples entertained 13 guests Sunday evening with a patio supper.

Leland Barker built a trellis over Hamann's patio this past week.

Off the streets and into the swimming pools! With this idea as a guide, the local Red Cross Chapter and the County Recreation Department has stepped up to the plate and walloped the problem of summer recreation for a long home run. Remarkable Growth of Night Blooming Cereus

Night blooming Cereus, pictured above, in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Whitaker of Lakeside, has reached the majestic proportions of 15 feet, in the short space of seven years. Usual rate of growth of this species is a few inches each year.

The Cereus has borne 1,200 delicate waxy blooms thus far this season. Buds are still setting on.

By FLORENCE BEADLE

A feeling of awe crept over me as I stood in the well-kept garden of the hilltop home of Mr. and Mrs. Hale Whitaker, recently.

The awe-inspiring panoramic view of the beautiful Lakeside Valley, almost encircled with low hills and the hazy blue Cuyamacas in the distance, will long be remembered.

As I stood there in the gathering dusk the lights began to appear one by one in the homes in the peaceful valley below.

Much later, as the moon arose it revealed an even more wondrous sight, making one forget all else.

There in the moonlight, covered with dozens of delicate waxy blooms was the majestic 15-foot night-blooming Cereus that I had come especially to see.

Having kept count of the blossoms each night, Mrs. Whitaker estimates the total number to be well over the 1200 mark to date, with many more buds setting on.

Starting with about forty blossoms June 18, the Cereus reached a peak of 120 blossoms one night last week, dropping back to about fifty or sixty blossoms a night last week.

The Cereus, which was planted in 1940 when it was only a foot high, has made the phenomenal growth of two feet a year, the usual growth being only a few inches a year.

Mrs. Whitaker stated that she was not sure of the botanical name of the Cereus, although some one had partially identified it as a "Cereus Peruvianus Monstrosus," a native of Peru, South America.

She has a collection of 46 imported Cereus, from South America Australia, Hawaii, Africa and Mexico, which she planted in 1940 also. Only this one freak Cereus has made such phenomenal growth.

Two Queen Contestants In Close Race for Lead

Although Louise Bridges took a surprising leap ahead in the standings for Queen of the 49er Celebration to be held here August 1, 2 and 3, Francine Shaff maintained her lead, although less than 1500 votes now separate them.

A final check of votes made Wednesday this week gave Mrs. Shaff 15,334 votes to 14,011 for Miss Bridges.

Others polled:

Betty Jane Rowe 5,220
Shirley Lucas 4,634
Marion Grayson (Bingo) 1,769
Mary Sloan 652

Two publicity stunts arranged by her campaign managers were responsible for the excellent showing made by Miss Bridges this week.

Meanwhile the supporters of Mrs. Shaff have not been idle, as indicated by her total gain of approximately 5,000 votes in one week.

VOTES NOT TRANSFERABLE

Fred Prindle Sr., Queen contest manager, emphasizes that votes for Queen cannot be transferred from one contestant to another.

"When one girl drops out of the race her votes are cancelled. It is not possible to transfer them to another contestant," he said.

"Although the names of only the top six girls are being posted now," he continued, "None has been eliminated. Votes will continue to be tabulated for all and it is possible for any one of them to come from behind and get in the prize money."

LONG LIVE THE KING!

The race for King of the 49ers, while less spectacular than that for Queen, is creating much interest. Les Kephart maintained his lead, keeping well out in front.

Eddie Harrison moved into second place, followed by Otis Barker, Earl Barker and Ed Perpic.

Les Kephart 1,117
Eddie Harrison 442
Otis Barker 376
Earl Barker 294
Ed Perpic 229

The Queen contest will end at 9 p.m., July 30, at which time the final count will be made.

Winner will receive $75 and a gown; second, $50 and a gown; third, $25 and a gown.

Motorist Killed Near Jacumba

En route to deliver a truckload of merchandise to the War Surplus Store in Lakeside, James E. Slusher of El Centro narrowly escaped serious injury when his truck was struck and overturned by an approaching car.

O. R. Dahlquist Jr., of El Centro, driver of the car, was instantly killed by the impact, which tore the motor from the chassis and hurled it 35 feet away.

The accident occurred near Jacumba at 10:30 in the evening. Mr. Slusher was shaken and bruised.

Lloyd F. Jones, investigating deputy coroner, held the driver of the truck blameless. No inquest was held. Mr. Dahlquist had apparently fallen asleep at the wheel of his car, as it swerved across the line to smash into the truck.

Farm Bureau Building Bee

An old-fashioned "Building Bee" will be held all day Saturday, July 19, at the Lakeside Rodeo Grounds, to construct booths and the midway for the August '49er Celebration.

The Farm Bureau, in charge of booth construction, asks that all available carpenters and workers be there to help.

Women of the Home Department will furnish food and drink to the workers.

George Miller will be in charge of the work crew which will start at 8 o'clock. Any one who can put in part of the day will also be welcome.

Art Edwards of the Lakeside Motors was confined by illness to his home Monday.

ANNUAL PICNIC OF LAKESIDE C. OF C.

The annual outdoor family potluck dinner of the Lakeside Chamber of Commerce was held Monday evening at Lindo Lake Park.

No business was transacted, but there was an informal discussion on phases of the 49er celebration and Queen contest.

Two box lunches auctioned off by Atty. Rupert Linley netted the Building Fund $31.50. To each high bidder went the privilege of eating fried chicken with a Lakeside Queen contestant. Claude Weston contributed $12 for the lunch box packed by Shirley Lucas: Ole Holm $19.50 for that of Louise Bridges.

Approximately sixty families attended the dinner.

"Helpy-Selfy Laundry" Opens Here Monday

A new service industry opens in Lakeside next Monday—the Helpy-Selfy Laundry of Mr. and Mrs. Elno C. Brown.

The location is 260 Sycamore st., two blocks west of the Lakeside bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown moved here from San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Davidson, parents of Mrs. Brown, are making their home with them.

CORRECTION

An item in the Star last week stated "Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fishbaugh Jr. have bought 4 acres on Oak dr." This was an error, as Mr. Fishbaugh is unmarried. He is building his home with Jack Cornell on Oak dr. in Lakeside. Mr. Fishbaugh and Mr. Cornell have at the present time almost completed a home for Mrs. Cornell's mother and are now building a home for themselves.

Valley Shrine Club Installs New Officers

Newly elected officers of the La Mesa-El Cajon Shrine Club were installed at a dinner meeting July 15 at Casner's El Rancho.

Installation was conducted by the entire staff of officers of Al Bahr Temple of San Diego.

Newly elected officers are Milton Paris of El Cajon, president: Percy Daniels of La Mesa, first vice president: Gere Leipner of El Cajon, second vice-president.

Re-elected at the June meeting were Ernest W. Riner of La Mesa secretary and Bob Swearengin of El Cajon, treasurer.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SAW FLOOD DAMAGE IN MIDDLE WEST

R. L. Swearengin and his nephew Jery Nelson returned Monday night from a month's vacation in the Middle West. They visited areas flooded by the Missouri river, which did so much damage to the nation's grain crops.

Their greatest thrill, however, was catching rainbow trout in the mountains near Beaver, Utah. They brought their last catch of two dozen trout home with them.

CATCHES BIGGEST FISH

Mrs. L. M. Moore of 767 Julian ave. almost fell in Lake Henshaw Sunday as she struggled with a five-lb. bass she had hooked. But she managed to land the fish and it was just a half inch larger than the biggest one her husband could catch.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bertussi spent Thursday and Friday of last week in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Robert Conley (Barbara Goodman) is being welcomed back in her former position as clerk in the Allied Food Store. She will work until Earl Barker returns from his vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shane of Fort Madison, Iowa, are arriving Thursday for a five-day visit with Mr. and Mrs. Forace Boyd of Lakeside. Mr. Shane is an uncle of Mrs. Boyd.

Mrs. Robert A. Jenkins and children Robbin and Bobby returned Tuesday to their home in Los Angeles. They had spent two weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. Stella Mitchell in the McGill Courts in Lakeside.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel T. Haddock of San Diego have purchased thru the Osborne Realty Co. a homesite in Swearengin's subdivision, Lindo Heights. The Haddocks are planning to make their home in Lakeside because of its healthful climate.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Cowan have purchased the Jim Ames home on Park st. in Lakeside, through C. Houlihan, real estate broker. Mr. Cowan has worked for the State of California for the past 15 years. He recently received a long-awaited transfer from the Imperial Valley to this vicinity.

LANGLOIS on the air

For some time now I have had it rubbed into me about a condition of which I can do little except air my views.

It seems we have some sort of a building ordinance in Lakeside, but it is a very weak sister, to put it mildly. Now the straw that cracks this camel's back came some time ago when a couple of citizens came to me with a squawk about cardboard shacks coming in town on all sides.

To make it brief, there is nothing I or any one else can do about this. They buy these fire traps, get a permit to move them, and there they stay, adding lustre to the community and helping put property values down to the bottom.

However, I can voice my opinion, as well as the opinion of the majority of civic minded people in our community when I say that any one who moves in these cardboard atrocities and sticks them on Main street, right in the nose of any one coming into Lakeside, where they lean at a tower of Pisa angle, has a very peculiar idea of building up our town. They are an eyesore, a fire trap, and a lot of things this paper won't let me print.

In view of the housing shortage, I can sympathize with anyone who buys a place out of town and tries to put a roof over the heads of his family; but deliver me from any bird who sticks one of them up in the business part of town in hopes of renting them out as business places.

If those who are putting up a protest about this will take the matter up with the County building inspector, maybe he can give them the reasons why we see them coming in.

I can't and I tried to have a more stringent code put in than we now have.

There are some other good eyesores in Lakeside, especially when you come into the Park, where some character has lived in an old jalopy for the past few years. However, if you want to change these conditions, don't leave it to me. Get together and go to the County Board of Health and ask why.

I will give it all the publicity you want, because I love my community and don't care to see it become a Tobacco Road.

Changing the subject, I was at the Whiskereno dance Saturday night, viewed a choice collection of brush and was assured I looked more disreputable than anything Lakeside had ever beheld, but the thing I got a boot out of was the Kangaroo Court. When a 200-lb. deputy in his prime goes and tries to toss a 125 runt who is a grandpa, into the tank and this little guy takes the deputy in with him, well, I sure underestimated this midget or overestimated the deputy. No foolin' there seems to be a lot of whoosh in old I. C. Also, an aside to Linley. If you are going to auction off garters and other unmentionables, why not tip the boys in advance, so they could leave the grindstones home.

See you next week.

CAT STRANDED ON POLE; FIREMAN TO RESCUE!

Fire Chief Hugo Clapp was called out Sunday afternoon on a mission slightly beyond his line of duty.

A cat belonging to Mrs. Lucy McCay was stranded atop a telephone pole.

Hugo ran up the ladder and then tried in vain to coax kitty off the pole. The cat apparently couldn't make up its mind about trusting its fate to a man with so many whiskers.

At last, however the cat reached a decision, leaped past Hugo's arms, ran down his leg, down the pole, to safety.

Hugo was satisfied. He took down the ladder and made a simple entry in his log book. "Cat stranded. Rescue effected."

NEW BLEACHERS

New bleachers have been built at the ball diamond at the Lakeside Union Grammar School. Seating accommodations are said to be provided now for 300.

Among those who contributed their services to erect the bleachers were Tony Held, Bill Chilvers, Art Foster, Clarence Foster, Chas. Foster, Wilson White, Rupert Linley, Dick Held and Bud Held.

Girls Softball Team Loses Close Game to La Jolla

The Lakeside Girls Softball team almost broke the La Jolla jinx!

At the end of 7 innings of play Tuesday night, the score was 1 to 1 and Lakeside was in winning mood.

However La Jolla shoved a run across when they came to bat again and it proved the winning margin—making three straight games they have won over Lakeside this year.

Batteries for the local team were Cameron, p., Falk, c.

According to Fred Prindle, Sr., manager of the Lakeside team, a game has been scheduled with a girls' softball team recently organized at Escondido, to be played next Tuesday evening at 8:15 at the Grammar School ball field.
